Water Balloon

VARIATION 1

In this variation, only the women are allowed to throw the water balloons, and the men must only dodge.

If a woman hits her target, the target must take a drink. However, if she misses, she must take a drink.

VARIATION 2

In this variation, anyone can be the hitter, but they cannot throw a water balloon at a woman.

If the hitter hits a woman, they must take a drink.

Women who are participating can intentionally try to get hit by coming in the way of the balloons to make the hitter take a drink.

The hitter must be careful and ensure that they hit their target without hitting any women.

INSTRUCTIONS

01

Gather a group of players and mark a boundary within which the game will be played.

02

Fill up water balloons and distribute them evenly among the players.

03

Decide which variation of the game will be played – either only women can hit (variation 1) or anyone can hit, but not at women (variation 2).

04

The game starts with the designated hitter throwing a water balloon at a player. The target player must try to dodge the incoming balloon while staying within the marked boundary.

05

If the target player is hit, they must take a drink. If the hitter misses, they must take a drink.

06

Players must stay within the marked boundary during the game. If a player steps outside the boundary, they must take a drink.

07

In variation 2, women who are participating may intentionally try to get hit by coming in the way of the balloons. If the hitter hits a woman, they must take a drink.

08

The game continues with players taking turns as the hitter and targeting other players.

09

The game ends when all the water balloons are used up or when players decide to stop playing.
